

ROSA AND WHITTET OPPOSE EACH OTHER FOR SPEAKERSHIP

Madison, Wis., Jan. 8.—Members of the Wisconsin legislature were coming into the city today for the session which is to open on Wednesday. No actual legislative accomplishments will be completed during the week, the time being spent in organization.

The party caucuses will be held Tuesday evening. The men nominated by the republican caucus for speaker, sergeant at arms and chief clerk of the house will be ratified on Wednesday. The senators meet in separate caucuses on Tuesday evening to name officers. The democrats and socialists will hold caucuses, but the naming of candidates by them is but a formality, both houses being strong republicans.

At noon on Wednesday, Chief Clerk Starnes of the assembly and Lieutenant Governor Dittmar of the senate, will call the separate bodies to order. The membership roll will be read in each house. A body of the members will be sworn in by Chief Justice J. J. Winslow. The officers of each house will then be elected, the members will make out their mileage, and in the assembly will draw their seats. Each house will then adjourn until Thursday at ten o'clock when the governor will read his message.

After the message both houses will probably adjourn until Tuesday, January 16, to give the speaker elect an opportunity to make up his committee assignments. Preference will be given to the old members as chairman of committees.

There are two republican candidates for speaker of the assembly, L. C. Whittet of Edgerton and Charles D. Rosa of Beloit. Assemblyman Rosa is the republican candidate of the progressive forces. In all probability Assemblyman Whittet will be named by the caucus Tuesday evening and elected by the house on Wednesday. Chief Clerk Starnes will be elected without opposition. It will make his sixth term in that capacity. There are three republican candidates for sergeant at arms, H. S. Perin, Milwaukee; W. S. Irvine, Greenwood; and T. C. Cratney of Midway. For the past five sessions Irvine has held the position.

The selection of the democrats as their candidate for speaker will virtually be the floor leader of that party. There are three candidates for the position: Carl Hanson, Manitowish; Edward Nordman, Fond du Lac; and Donnelly, Milwaukee. Assemblyman Hanson has been in Madison for a month preparing for the session.

In the senate, Chief Clerk O. G. Munson, Virgil, will probably be re-elected without opposition. W. C. Croft of Tomah and F. E. Andrews of Bloomer are the republican candidates for sergeant at arms. Andrews will be a chief clerk of the senate and two years ago held the sergeant-at-arms position. The senate also selects a president pro tempore who presides over the senate in the absence of the lieutenant governor. It now seems probable that this honor will be conferred on Senator Platt Whitman of Highland. Senator William Gray of Oakshosh is a candidate for the position.

The governor's message was finished and sent to the printer late Saturday afternoon. With the exception of the famous railroads and message, Senator La Follette, which was in reality a book, this message will probably be the longest message ever given by the governor of a state. It will run about 5,000 words. The legislature draw a salary of $500 for the session and ten cents mileage to and from the capitol. The salary and mileage will be paid during the first week of the session.

EXPECT BIG CROWD TO HEAR W. J. BRYAN

Madison, Wis., Jan. 8.—In anticipation of 5,000 visitors on Jan. 22 to hear W. J. Bryan open the campaign to submit to a vote of the people a bill for state-wide prohibition, the mass meeting announced that the mass meeting will be held in the stock pavilion instead of in the university gymnasium as originally planned. The pavilion seats about 5,000, while the gymnasium will not accommodate more than 2,000.

Reports from the state forecast a large attendance from cities and towns. Mr. Bryan will be the chief attraction, who will introduce the bill in the legislature and who proposed the mass meeting. "Special trains will be required to properly handle the crowds from Milwaukee, the Fox River valley and the nearby cities of the southern part of the state, and large delegations are expected from Superior and other cities of northern Wisconsin. The program for a mass meeting to unite all the dry forces of the state in support of a bill to give the people the right to vote upon prohibition has awakened such widespread and sympathetic interest that the committee feels that it would be a blunder to attempt to accommodate the crowd of visitors in the gymnasium. Therefore we have secured the largest auditorium in Madison.

R. E. Minehan, former mayor of Green Bay, is to preside at all the sessions. Mr. Minehan is widely known throughout eastern Wisconsin and is being sought as an orator for public occasions.

While Mr. Bryan, who speaks at seven o'clock at night, is to be the chief attraction, his address is not to be an ordinary event of large importance. Mark Hudson, who as manager of the dry campaign in Michigan, rolled up a majority of 70,000 for prohibition, is to give a business meeting in the afternoon.

With Bryan to discuss the issue and minehan as the keynote, and with Hudson discussing practical methods and possible to outline a program for Wisconsin, the leaders feel that the state mass meeting for Jan. 22 will be a big factor in awakening sentiment and building forces.

Those who are to be delegates to the mass meeting. All who are interested in the movement are to have seats and to vote, whether they come as individuals or as representatives of various organizations.

Presently the present will have gone. It is to be recalled.—Lucratus.

THEY WERE RUNDOWN

How often we hear it said of a man or woman that "they were rundown in health," which accounts for their present sickness. For that reason it is important that when you find you tire easily, when your nerves are troublesome or your work is irksome, you should strengthen your system immediately with the blood-enriching, tissue-building food in Scott's Emulsion which contains pure Norwegian cod liver oil and is free from alcohol.

BELGIANS ESCAPE BY CLEVER RUSE

(By Associated Press)
Maastricht, Netherlands, Jan. 8.—An ingenious ruse, smacking of pirate yarns, has just enabled 40 Belgians to get safely out of Belgium. A tugboat, carrying on the River Meuse at Maastricht early one morning, guarded by three German soldiers. One or two Belgians casually approached and entered into conversation with the sentries, the sequel to a friendly chat being an invitation to have a drink at the nearest hostelry. Here a sleeping potion was adroitly introduced in the unsuspecting Germans' glasses, and a few minutes later the sentries were carried aboard the boat in a helpless condition.

Three Belgians quickly donned their uniforms, the rest of the fugitive party had already taken up their quarters below, and the tugboat was soon steaming Holland-wards, the German war flag flying bravely at the masthead. Arrived at the lock, orders were imperiously shouted and once safely on the other side the little boat sped downstream at full speed, the snarling wire stretched across the boundary and being soon afterwards run ashore on Dutch territory.

With borrowed plumes restored to them, the abducted Germans were given due directions concerning their way back to Belgium.

DEERS IN HERDS OVERRUN SCOTLAND

Glasgow, Jan. 8.—Scotland is suffering from the deer pest. Hundreds of deer are descending on farms and devouring the crops. Farmers and land agents reported these conditions at a recent meeting of the Scottish Chamber of Agriculture, and demanded amendments to the game laws so that more deer could be shot and the food supplies increased.

It seems that 9,000,000 of Scotland's 19,000,000 acres are officially described as "mountain and heath grazing land." Of this more than two million acres are deer forest proper, and on much of the rest, deer compete with sheep and cattle for the pasture. A good landlord encloses his preserves with a deer fence and keeps it in repair. But it was said at the Chamber meeting that there are many bad landlords.

One of the biggest sheep farmers in Scotland declared that a nation less injured by tradition to the deer forest would long have demanded that deer should be confined to the poor lands, and that the better lands should be used for crops, pasture or afforestation.

OPEN DOOR FOR ATHLETES.

Representatives of the various colleges have been holding heart to heart talks at the New York convention of the National College Athletic association. Some interesting things came out.

There is great competition for promising athletes. They are fated, flattered and courted. Zealous agents solicit their attendance for competing institutions. In many cases the athletes get all expenses paid. Bank accounts to their order and dividends on the profits of the team are among the emoluments. It is no wonder that boys are interested in athletics.

No such rewards are offered the superior student. No court of solicitors hangs around urging him to resign from his institutions by his presence. No loyal university fans are offering to pay his expenses. Of course there are scholarships. They are all too few in most schools, and usually go only part way toward expenses.

Conditions like the above were regarded as abuses by the college representatives in convention. Courage was demanded in abolishing them. But one suspects that the college managers won't do much. They have to meet the demands of the times just like the grocer or the publisher. If the public will pay its good money to support athletics, and will not pay it to support scholarship, the college has to supply the demand.

These conditions could easily be changed by giving equal recognition to the industrious and successful student. Some of our rich men should supply this lack. More liberal prizes for good study, generous scholarships for original and constructive work, would revolutionize the spirit of modern student bodies. The young American is full of the spirit of competition. When he sees all the prizes going to skill in sport, it is natural that his interest should lie in that direction.

"PORK"

Economy has never been much of a vote getting issue. The people angrily denounce extravagant appropriations. At the same time they cheerfully demand extravagance in their own districts. Congressmen know perfectly well that a big public building in their own district will bring them more votes than they will lose by voting for a log rolling pork measure.

Political platforms all denounce extravagance. Then whichever party goes in proceeds to increase the appropriations, the previous size of which they attacked. No wonder the voters regard party platforms as merely the modern form of high class fiction.

Of course it is universally admitted that half of the public building bill is pork, that the thing is extravagant, full of propositions not sound on a business basis. But it will never be stopped until it becomes politically dangerous for congressmen to back these bills. Now it is politically dangerous for them not to scramble for their own share.

The people should be made to realize that one item in the high cost of living is the high cost of government. As long as the government will $5,000 on a public building, why should it not spend $1,000,000 on a perfectly well, the taxpayers must root the bill. If the American people do not want their money thrown away they should condemn waste wherever they see it. They should punish it in their home town just as severely as they condemn it at a distance. If a project is uneconomically unsound, the business men of the locality should protest against it. When that spirit prevails, no great many expenses will be cut, and the ridiculous scandal of the present day pork bills will disappear.

THE HOME STORE.

"Distance lends enchantment," says the old saying. It applies to a notable extent in the purchasing of home supplies. People are affected by very illogical considerations in buying goods.

They go off to some distant department store and are somehow swayed by the brilliancy and dazzle of the thing. There are novel window displays, not merely of goods on sale, but of all kinds of fancy models having nothing to do with the goods sold. A fascinating representation of a palace or a hundred other novelties having nothing to do with the sale of women's dresses, but people may think it has. The glitter of myriad electric lights, the display of flashing electric signs, luxurious store appointments, soft hued and velvety carpets, an abundance of uniformed servants, orchestra, piano, and organ concerts, these are a few of the many effects on which big city stores depend. They unquestionably draw trade.

Yet the public has to pay for all these things. They enter largely into the overhead charges of big stores. They make it expensive to buy in those stores. When you add to that the enormous cost of rentals in those stores, the big expense of high salaries, the costly systems of bookkeeping and supervision that have to maintain the overhead charge is a great mountain of expense.

Against this we have the simpler organization of such stores as exist in our home town. Their sales are relatively small. But their expense account is a mere trifle comparatively. When you consider that the home store does not dare work off second grade goods, unless it tells the customer just what they are, the home prices are apt to be just as low and are often lower.

Why pay for glare and glitter and style and froth and dummery, when you can buy good goods right here at home, less all these unnecessary and little charges.

MRS. JANET B. DAY.

The Great Unseen Power that governs this universe has seen fit to call from our midst the spirit of Janet B. Day, leaving those that remain to mourn her death to wonder at providence's disposition. Perhaps no one individual woman has stamped her personality upon the community as did the one who has just left us. Her interest in the welfare and happiness of the young people of the city, particularly in the working classes, made her a peculiar niche that will be impossible to fill. Her last thought was for the consummation of a pet project which would include a rest room, a recreation playground for the children, in proposed improvements in the court house to be discussed by the court board at their coming session. Thousands of graduates of our schools look back with delight and pleasure to the hours under her direction. Her organization of the Drama club, her intense interest in the Women's club organizations of the city, all have made her a place in the hearts and minds of many. A life-long resident of Janesville she had the interests of the community at heart and was an intense patriot. Janet B. Day has gone to the world beyond, but the work she did here on earth will live after her as a lasting memorial.

JANUARY ADVERTISING.

It would be hard to imagine conditions much more favorable to advertising than they are at present. The country is still prosperous. People have money to buy, so that the advertising will not run up against the barrier of lack of purchasing power. Now is the time when thrifty people expect and look for bargains. A great many of them wait until this time of year expecting to get marked down. They watch the newspapers every week to see what will be offered. Only those merchants who advertise can get any share of this trade.

The results of carrying goods over until next fall will be even more costly than usual. Styles change nowadays with startling frequency. In times of prosperity people want up-to-date stuff. A moderate sum spent in advertising now should save some serious losses later and also avoid some heavy interest bills. The quick goods are turned over, the less the overhead expense.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The present week marks the opening of the session of the Wisconsin legislature. It is intimated that Governor Philipp has formulated a line of action relative to needed legislation that will be exploited in his measure. It is to be hoped that the legislature will not develop sufficient strength to block this program by a combination with disgruntled democrats as they did two years ago and prolong what otherwise should be a short and harmonious gathering. The people clearly demonstrated what they wished for when they re-elected Philipp and endorsed the republican platform. Now let the legislature get busy and enact into laws needed changes and wipe out of the statutes useless requirements that are costly even as experiments.

The Health Bureau argues that we shouldn't worry as birds don't fret about their nests, etc. But birds don't have any wives longingly viewing those $17 hats in the milliner's window.

The investigation of the leaks from Washington is being pursued with energy, but there is a feeling at the capital that the leakers can sleep on in calm and serene security.

Campaigns for reckless driving are being pushed so hard in many places that it is believed the motorists will be held down to thirty miles an hour through crowded streets.

The coal operators must really want to see the government take their property away from them, the way they have kept raising prices for the past season.

The January stock-takings frequently show a large excess of liabilities over assets, but there is a widespread feeling that the creditors should worry.

It may be safe for President Wilson to refuse to hold the inaugural dance, but he would not dare refuse to throw out the first ball of the league season.

After a careful reading of the opinions of financial experts on the present mixed situation, it is clear that stocks will go up if they don't come down.

The indignation felt at Washington over the leaks to Wall street is perhaps aggravated by the fact that only a small number of people get tips.

Almost any day the Washington people should see President Wilson running out to the corner letter box to mail a new note to Germany.

After denouncing the trusts for the shortage of paper, many people proceed to burn up several barrels of waste in a back yard bonfire.

The inaugurals by the new governors are on a high plane of excellence suggesting that the secretaries wrote a good many of them.

The rulers of Europe will spurn peace with splendid heroism as long as the common people are willing to do the fighting.

SEWING THE DOOLIES.
It is easy to sit in your carriage, And counsel the man on foot; But get down and walk, and you'll change your talk, As you feel something sharp in your boot.

Odden Ends, the riddle fiend, was smoking his Macintosh pipe and reading a new book by his favorite author, Anon I. Muss, entitled, "A

On the other side of the family jump his wife sat sewing a pair of doolies for the baby, Little Anagram. "Logarithm," said Odden Ends suddenly, "can you tell me why a man is like dough?" "As I was about to remark, a man is like dough because a woman needs him. Kneads him, see? Ha, ha, ho hee!" "Not at all," responded Logarithm. "A man is like dough because a woman has such a job getting him off her hands." Odden Ends suddenly buried himself in his book, and the only sound heard was the snoring of the grandfather's clock.

LANGE REMEMBERS SO GIVES REPEATER 90 DAYS; WOMAN UP

Refused to Be Lenient When Eddie Griffin Came Before Him Second Time—Orders Woman to Leave.
City Attorney Charles H. Lange has a memory that is enviable. Not only facts and faces indelibly print themselves upon his brain, but names and dates as well. Eddie Griffin found out so in municipal court this morning.

Griffin was up on a charge of vagrancy and drunkenness. Judge Lange was officiating for H. L. Maxwell. "Weren't you up here last August when I was here?" the prisoner was asked, and admitted that he was. "A fine old fellow, isn't he?" asked that time?" was the second question which received a second affirmative reply. "And didn't you tell me at that time you had your mother dependent on you?" came next, and the replying "Yes" affirmed that he had. "All right. Ninety days flat. Sit down."

LOCAL TEAM LOSES TO ROCKFORD HIGH

Janesville's hopes for putting up a good fight for the title in this part of the state were given quite a boost Saturday night when the local high school team gave the strong Rockford team a hard battle. The game was finally lost, however, by the score of 19 to 7. The local boys surprised themselves and the coaches by the hard, clean game they put up.

The game was the best possible practice and will do much to put the high school boys on their toes for the game with Waukecha, which is to be played here next Friday evening. The lineup was as follows:

Janesville..... Olander Kober..... f..... Burr Kenning..... c..... Reville Davy..... g..... Danielson Moore..... f..... Substitutes: Hagar for Morse. Field goals: Cushing 3, Olander 2, Burr 3, Reville 1. Free throws: Cushing 3, Burr 4, Reville 1.

DELAY SUGAR CASE; MAXFIELD IS ILL

City Attorney Lange, as Court, Leaves Action Against Pierce and Draefahl to Later Date.

Allen Pierce, who pleaded guilty to the burglary of the Schwartz warehouse, and the Crook brewery, of five hundred pounds sacks of sugar, and "like" Draefahl, who was implicated by Pierce but who pleaded not guilty, had their cases held open until court this morning. City Attorney Charles H. Lange, who occupied the bench because of the illness of Judge Maxfield, thought it best to permit the latter to dispose of the case.

SKY IS DARKENED FOR HOUR BY MOON ECLIPSE

The bright face of the moon was effaced from the heavens for fully an hour and a half after 1 o'clock Monday morning, marking the first of seven total eclipses promised during the current year.
The atmospheric conditions were ideal for observations in Janesville, and star gazers revelled in the sight. It was about 11:50 o'clock Sunday night when the shadow of the earth slowly the black bluish enshrouded further on the yellow disc, and at midnight the moon appeared as if some heavenly rodent had nibbled a small portion off the edge.

ANOTHER MILTON BOY APPEARS IN COURT FOR GANG'S ENTERING HOUSE

Harold Green, a Milton youth about fifteen or sixteen, was in municipal court this morning in connection with the case in the village where a group of boys made themselves at home and had a clubhouse in a residence, the owner of which was away on a vacation. The charge was on a charge but Green told the court he did not break into the house. This is another angle from the case which Alfred Davey was sent to the reform school at Waukecha and actions are being pending to determine the incorrigibility of five other Milton youths. The lad's examination nine o'clock Wednesday morning and a $100 bail was demanded. He went to jail.

PAYS FOR MACHINE WRECKED ON RIDE

Bradley Lawrence's Sister and Mother Save Him From Court Case By Raising Money for Automobile.
Brady Lawrence, a local young man, figured in an automobile accident near the Racine street bridge Saturday afternoon, according to the police. A garage owner named Thomas came from Edgerton this morning and at first planned to have a serious charge lodged against the youth. Lawrence, he said, had hired the machine to go to Albion, but instead came to Janesville.

It is alleged arrangements were made whereby Lawrence was to pay for the damage to the car with the understanding that no court action would follow. His mother and sister secured the money and he was released from a cell at the city hall, which he had occupied since one o'clock Sunday morning, when he was arrested at his home.
The front part of the car, radiator, bumper and fenders were badly damaged, according to the police, and the roof had to be replaced before the machine would run.

OBITUARY.

Augusta H. Stark.
Many Janesville people will be grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Augusta H. Stark, which occurred at her home, 217 North Franklin street, yesterday morning. Mrs. Stark had been a resident of this city for nearly sixty years and in this time had made many friends and acquaintances. She was a devoted mother and interested in those who were dear to her.

She was born in Germany in 1848, and came to America with her parents at the age of five. She lived in Ripon, Wisconsin, until 1870, when she moved to Janesville. In 1876 she was married to Charles Stark, their seven children having survived.
Mrs. Stark is survived by her husband and two children, Mrs. R. Maxwell and Mrs. J. Proper, both of Beloit.
Funeral services will be held at half past one Tuesday afternoon at the Whaley undertaking parlors, 15 North Jackson street. The Rev. S. P. Fisher will officiate. Interment will be in Beloit.

Mrs. Janet Bell Day.
In appreciation of the life of the late Mrs. Janet Bell Day, a large number of friends and acquaintances gathered at two o'clock this afternoon at the Day home, 203 South Third street, to pay their last respects to all that was mortal of that woman. That her death was a shock to all Janesville and that her spirit was appreciated by all was shown in the number and diversity of those who mourned her.

Her husband, the late Mr. Oshkosh, died in 1890. She was a devoted mother and interested in those who were dear to her. She was a member of the church and a devotee of the services at the funeral this afternoon, and in a few words painted a beautiful picture of what Mrs. Day's life had been. Her home was as a client was known by all, her capacity as a director and producer of amateur dramatics was known by a large number of people who had worked under her, and her social interest in her broader movements, her active participation in philanthropic work and many other activities of a semi-public nature was well known to all.

No greater tribute to her life and work could be given than the true sorrow of many people who realize what a loss to the community was the death of Mrs. Day.
Interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

HUNTERS USE FERRET; GAME GUARDS GATHER FOUR; PAY BIG FINES

Max A. Ripen, O. A. Cook and A. E. Wilkins, Beloit men, paid fines of twenty dollars and costs in municipal court this morning for hunting yesterday in the town of Plymouth with a ferret. Daniel Osborn, fourth member of the party, "just carried a gun," and just fifty dollars.

Game Warden Ed. Fess of Madison and Andrew Sampson of Stoughton made the arrests. They claim that since Game Warden William Mason of this city resigned Rock county hunters had run rampant, killing cattle and horses, chickens, geese and other domestic fowl and that worse instances have occurred between Beloit and Hanover where the Line, City men were arrested yesterday.

Lange was on the bench in substitution of Judge Maxfield and under the circumstances of his being the prosecuting attorney in the case, agreement was reached whereby the date of arraignment would be left to the decision of Judge Maxfield. MRS. LEVI SPERRY OF EVANSVILLE PASSES AWAY

Evansville, Jan. 8.—In the death of Mrs. Levi Sperry, which occurred yesterday in this city, Evansville has lost a woman whose interests for many years have been of a breadth of scope which won her the respect and affection of a large number of our citizens.

Mrs. Sperry had been in poor health for two years, and last November was operated upon at the local hospital. She never recovered from the effects of this shock, and though constantly cheerful and ever welcoming the calls of her sympathetic friends, she gradually became weaker until her death yesterday.

Mrs. Sperry was born in Footville, December 15, 1868, and spent most of her early life in and around that city. Later she went with her parents to live on a farm near Stoughton. Some time later she was married to Levi Sperry of Avalon, going there to live on a farm in the town of Port Severn, about seven years ago. She came to this city, where she has since made her home.

Mrs. Sperry was a faithful member of the Reorganized Church of the Latter Day Saints, and was most actively associated with the local branch of the W. R. C. This organization will attend the funeral services in a body.

She is survived by her husband and by one daughter, Mrs. William Liston, of Janesville. She is also survived

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Stockholm, Jan. 8.—According to reports reaching here, German experiments have succeeded in making a synthetic rubber—or at least an acceptable substitute—from pitch, of which the impurities are removed by the German process. Similar experiments have been conducted by various Swedish scientists, but thus far without success. Many of them are still of the opinion, however, that the idea is feasible, and are not disposed to doubt, but the Germans have succeeded, although they incline to believe that the discovery cannot yet be of great practical significance.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

Margaret Illington is the latest of stars to "abandon the legitimate stage permanently." This is a very interesting way of saying that Miss Illington will act for the movies until a play suitable to her talents comes along. She has signed a contract and will go to California within a few weeks. "The Inner Shrine" will introduce Miss Illington to movie audiences. After that she will be seen in a photograph written for her by Charles Kenyon, whose drama, "Kindling," was her most successful vehicle of recent years.

WHY THEY FAIL.

Why many movie producing companies, starting out to make millions for investors, fail is no mystery. Testimony in a recent law suit was that the first feature the company made cost $11,754 to produce, was refused by the distributing company for which it was made, but which sold for $4,461. The next cost $19,240 to make, and sold for $14,200. Then came one which cost $21,626 to make, and sold for $20,000. Then came the last one which cost $21,869, and was disposed of for $15,000.

MISS FISCHER'S BEAR.

"Los Angeles' zoo bear," writes an excited publicity man, "was recognized by an ear which was bitten off by Miss Margrita Fischer."

The bear was recognized, you understand, by Miss Fischer. She didn't bite off its ear. That was done by another bear several years before when the bear was a cub and the pet of Miss Fischer.

That all may be perfectly clear, it was by the notched ear that she recognized the bear. It's to appear with her in a movie called "The Buttery Girl."

NO KIDNAPING.

Youngstown reports that tragic movie scenes so distressed a woman in a three-act play that she was whereat another woman in the audience set up a cry of "Stop her! She's stealing my baby!"

The first woman, in her haste to get away from the so-called scenes, had mistaken the second woman's baby car for her own, and was wheeling it off when stopped by ushers, amid intense excitement.

"K"

By Mary Roberts Rinehart

After a pause: "Does she know who did it?"

"Sidney? No."

"Then, if he gets better, she'll marry him anyhow."

"Possibly. That's not up to us, Joe. The thing we've got to do is to hush this thing up, and get you away."

"I'd go to Cuba, but I haven't the money."

K. rose. "I think I can get it."

He turned in the doorway.

"Sidney need never know who did it."

"I'm not ashamed of it." But his face showed relief.

There are times when some cataclysm tears down the walls of reserve between men. That time had come for Joe, and to a lesser extent for K. The boy rose and followed him to the door.

"Why don't you tell her the whole thing—the whole filthy story?" he asked. "She'd never look at him again. You're crazy about her. I haven't got a chance. It would give you one."

"I want her. God knows!" said K. "But not that way, boy."

The five thousand dollar check from Mr. Lorenz had saved Palmer Howe's credit. On the strength of the deposit he borrowed money at the bank with which he meant to pay his bills, arrears at the University and Country clubs, a hundred dollars lost throwing news with poker dice, and various small obligations of Christine's.

The immediate result of the money was good. He drank nothing for a week, went into the details of the new venture with Christine's father, sat at home with Christine on her balcony in the evenings. With the knowledge that he could pay his debts, he postponed the day. He liked the feeling of a bank account in four figures.

Christine had been making a fight, although her heart was only half in it. She was resolutely good-humored, ignored the past, dressed for Palmer in the things he liked. They still took their dinners at the Lorenz house up the street. When she saw that the haphazard table service there irritated him, she coaxed her mother into getting a butler.

The Street sniffed at the butler behind his stately back. Secretly and in his heart, it was proud of him. With a half-dozen automobiles, and Christine Howe putting on low neck in the evenings, and now a butler, not to mention Harriet Kennedy's Mimi, it ceased to pride itself on its commonplaceness, ignorant of the fact that in its very lack of affectation had lain its charm.

On the night that Joe shot Max Wilson, Palmer was noticeably restless. He had seen Grace Irving that day for the first time, but once, since the motor accident. The girl had a strange fascination for him. The sight of her walking sedately along in her shop-girl's black dress had been enough to set his pulses racing. When he saw that she meant to pass him, he fell into step beside her.

"I believe you were going to cut me! Still in the store?"

"Yes. And after a second's hesitation: 'I'm keeping straight, too.'"

"Do you have to walk as fast as this?"

"I said I was in a hurry. Once a week I got off a little early to go to the hospital. The Rosenfeld boy—"

The monstrous injustice of the thing overcame her. Palmer and she walking about, and the boy lying on his hot bed! She choked.

"Well?"

"He worries about his mother. If you could give her some money, it would help."

"Money! I paid his board for two months in the hospital."

When she did acknowledge this generosity—amounting to forty-eight dollars—his irritation grew. Her silence was an accusation. She was too calm in his presence, too cold. Where it had pleased his pride to think that he had given her up, he found that the shoe was on the other foot.

At the entrance to a side street she stopped.

"Turn off here."

"May I come and see you sometime?"

"No, please."

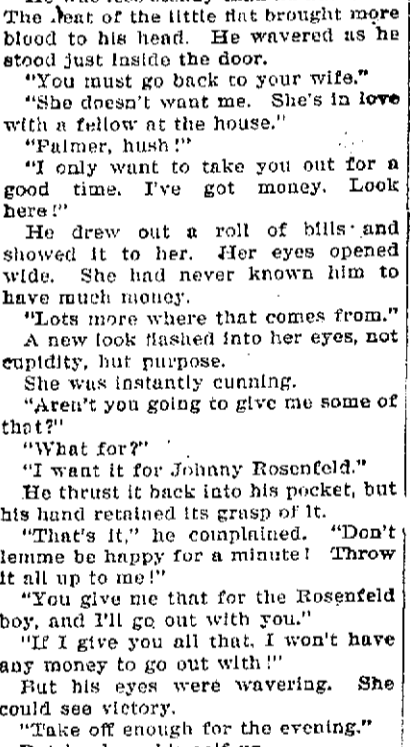

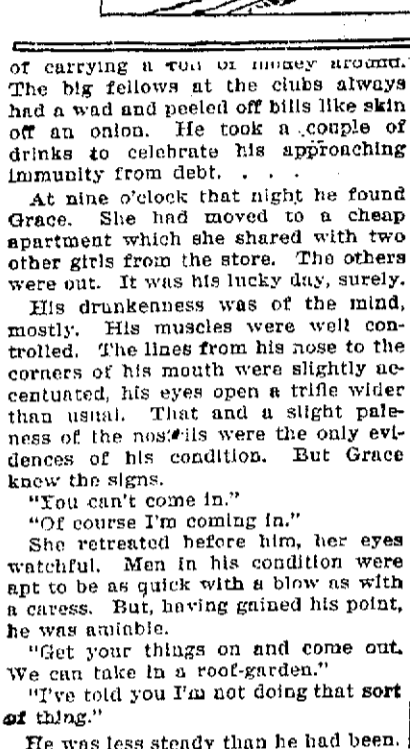

"That's flat, is it?"

"It is, Palmer."

He swung around savagely and left her.

The next day he drew over a thousand dollars from the bank. A good many of his debts he wanted to pay in cash; there was no use putting checks through, with incriminating endorsements. Also, he liked the idea of carrying a ton of money around. The fellow at the club always had a wad and peeled off bills like skin off an onion. He took a couple of drinks to celebrate his approaching immunity from debt.

At nine o'clock that night he found Grace. She had moved to a cheap apartment which she shared with two other girls from the store. The others were out. It was his lucky day, surely.

His drunkenness was of the mind, mostly. His muscles were well controlled. The lines from his nose to the corners of his mouth were slightly accentuated, his eyes open a trifle wider than usual. That and a slight paleness of the nose were the only evidences of his condition. But Grace knew the signs.

"You can't come in."

"Of course I'm coming in."

She retreated before him, her eyes watchful. Men in his condition were apt to be as quick with a blow as with a caress. But, having gained his point, he was amiable.

"Get your things on and come out. We can take in a roof-garden."

"I've told you I'm not doing that sort of thing."

He was less steady than he had been. The heat of the little hat brought more blood to his head. He wavered as he stood just inside the door.

"You must go back to your wife."

"She doesn't want me. She's in love with a fellow at the house."

"Palmer, hush!"

"I only want to take you out for a good time. I've got money. Look here!"

He drew out a roll of bills and showed it to her. Her eyes opened wide. She had never known him to have much money.

"Lots more where that comes from."

A new look flashed into her eyes, not cupiditry, but purpose.

She was instantly cunning.

"Aren't you going to give me some of that?"

"What for?"

"I want it for Johnny Rosenfeld."

He thrust it back into his pocket, but his hand retained its grasp of it.

"That's it," he complained. "Don't let me be happy for a minute! Throw it all up to me!"

"You give me that for the Rosenfeld boy, and I'll go out with you."

"If I give you all that, I won't have any money to go out with."

But his eyes were wavering. She could see victory.

"Take off enough for the evening."

But he drew himself up.

"It's my lucky day," he said thickly. "Plenty more where this came from. Do anything for you. Give it to the little devil. I—" He yawned.

His head dropped back on his chair; he propped his sagging legs on a stool.

He looked uncomfortable, almost guilty.

"When I look back and remember how all these months I've been talking about service, and you said nothing at all, and all the time you were living what I preached—I'm so ashamed, K."

He would not allow that. It distressed him. She saw that, and tried to smile.

"When does Joe go?"

"Tonight. I'm to take him across the country to the railroad. I was wondering—"

"Yes?"

"I'd better explain first. Then if you are willing to send him a line, I think it would help. He saw a girl in white in the car and thought it was you, of course. Carlotta was taken ill. And Schwitzer and—Wilson took her upstairs to a room."

"What are your plans?"

"I haven't any. I'm about through with my training, but I've lost my diploma."

"I don't like to see you going away like this."

She avoided his eyes, but his kindly tone did what neither the Head nor the executive committee had done that day. It shook her control.

"What does it matter to you? You don't owe me anything."

"Perhaps not. One way and another I've known you a long time."

"You never knew anything very good."

"I'll tell you where I live, and—"

"I know where you live."

"Will you come to see me there? We may be able to think of something."

"What is there to think of? This story will follow me wherever I go! I've tried twice for a diploma and failed. What's the use?"

Dinner Stories

An insurance man tells this one: An insurance man tells this one: Not long ago there rushed into one of our offices in the South a very excited woman, so excited in fact, that she was out of breath and could speak with difficulty.

"What's the trouble?" asked one of the clerks.

"I want a policy at once—at once!" exclaimed the woman, when she had recovered sufficiently to articulate. "Our house is on fire!"

The clerk was up to his ears in parables. He was a good salesman, had a rare command of language, and knew how to expatiate on the best points of the goods he sold. As he backed up a parcel from a lot on the counter and opened it he struck an attitude of admiration and said: "Now there! Look at that silk! Isn't it lovely? Particularly observe the quality, the finish, the general effect. Feel it. Pass your hand over it. No nonsense about this parcel, is there?"

"No," said the lady, "it has worn well. I'm old one. I just laid it down here."

An Irishman in a town in the South was careless enough to let his priest catch him emerging from a saloon with a demijohn under his arm. The priest waited for him to come by and said:

"Mike, what is it you have in that demijohn?"

"Whiskey, Sir."

"To whom does it belong?"

"To me and me brother Pat, Sir."

"Well, Mike," pour yours out, and be a good man and let me have a drop."

"I can't, Father," said Mike, "mine's in the bottom."

IT'S EVIDENT "PREPAREDNESS" HAS NOT HIT THE ISLAND

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

San Juan, Porto Rico, Jan. 8.—Although the Porto Rico regiment of Infantry has been almost doubled in the number of enlisted men since the passage of the army reorganization act by congress, last July, there is again a waiting list. It has been a good man organization, but now has the full regimental strength of 1,300 men.

It has never been difficult to get men to enlist in the regiment and it is believed to be among the very few bodies of organized soldiers any place in the world that has maintained a waiting list. The percentage of desertions has been the lowest of any organization in the United States army.

Everyday Wisdom

By DON HEROLD

Every neighborhood has its perpetual persistent, unapproachable, insatiable truth-admitter. He speaks out. Or frequently she. He tells sick folks they look worse. He sees the grey hairs and the wrinkles of life, and shouts about them. He knows that we are biological bipeds and reminds us we descended from monkeys. (But he does not tell us whether we are ascending or whether we are descending.)

He knows the middle name of everybody in town, and whispers it to others. He snoops up and down the alleys of the world, a scavenger for new truths. And when he finds a truth, discarded to the garbage can by respectable folks, he drags it around to their front yard and leaves it on their beautifully mowed lawn.

Why admit the truth? Such truth as ought to prevail will prevail without admitting.

There is enough truth, without our trying to make more.

The trouble with habitual truth-admitters is that they admit it too hard. They get to admitting truths that are untrue. There should be moderation in truth. As Mark Twain said, we should always save some of it for tomorrow.

Laughter, lullabies, lendicencies, loyalties, and abandoned lungs—the world will get farther by all these, than by truths too truthfully admitted.

SEVEN ECLIPSES ARE ON THE PROGRAM FOR 1917.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Washington, Jan. 8.—Four eclipses of the sun and three of the moon, the greatest number possible in a single year, will occur in 1917 according to a memorandum issued today by the naval observatory. The last year in which seven eclipses came was early in the last century and the next will be in 1955. On Jan. 8 there will be a total eclipse of the moon by the earth's shadow, visible throughout the United States beginning at 12:50 a. m. and ending at 4:39 a. m. Eastern standard time. Between 2:00 and 3:25 a. m. Eastern time, the eclipse will be total.

LAKE FREIGHT LINE QUILTS CLAIM INADEQUATE TRAFFIC

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Manitowoc, Wis., Jan. 8.—Discontinuance of Chicago, Milwaukee and Manitowoc ports in 1917 has been announced by the Great Lakes Transportation corporation, which since 1914 has operated a freight line between Manitowoc and points east. The corporation does not plan to run any boats on Lake Michigan this year.

Lack of an adequate amount of traffic is given by officials of the company as the reason for discontinuance. The service we have been giving said J. C. Thompson, manager of the company at Milwaukee.

The boat line was formed as a result of the Panama bill, which prohibited railroads from owning or operating steamboats in connection with their lines. The Great Lakes Transit company, it is said, bought most of the boats formerly owned by the railroad lines.

DON'T SUFFER WITH NEURALGIA

Musterole Gives Delicious Comfort

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skull seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on the temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving quick relief.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than mustard plaster, and does not blister.

Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE URGES COLONIZE CALIFORNIA LANDS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Sacramento, Jan. 8.—With the development and colonization of California's agricultural lands as the chief business at hand the state legislature convened here today. Governor Hiram W. Johnson, United States Senator-elect, emphasized the importance of this work in his message to the lawmakers. The water problems, conference, appointed by the governor, called attention to the vast possibilities of the state's water resources which, it was pointed out, can be made a source of great wealth to the state. The greater portion of the great Sacramento valley, for instance, is not being cultivated because there is no method of water storage for irrigation.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy, if You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

PAY AS YOU GO.

Building roads that do not last until the bonds mature is economically wrong. The roads are gone while the bonds still demand the annual interest payments and eventual refunding by a generation that has received no benefit. If through costly maintenance they have been kept in reasonable condition the total of initial cost, interest and maintenance is too great. Permanent roads built by bond issues maturing within the reasonable expectancy of the life of the road represent least cost to the taxpayers. Each year of road service is paid for in that year.

OUR HIGHWAY PROBLEM.

An Ohio Idea in Construction of Permanent Concrete Roads.

The economic reaction of automobile development is obviously in better roads, says the Wall Street Journal. But the tremendous waste of funds, long in progress through unsound highway engineering or through lack of engineering advice, tends to perpetuate an era of excessive costs of maintenance and relatively little proportionately in the way of permanent results.

Standardized methods of road construction and a standard system of classifying highways is better than that of traffic density. It is highly desirable that careful counts should be instituted by state highway officials to determine the present main routes of travel. Just as in railroad evolution, density of traffic determines the amount of investment, so highways should be classified on the basis of density of traffic into trunk lines, main lines and feeders.

In railroad a light traffic is handled by a single line of track with switches; main line traffic is handled by double tracks. Trunk lines handling heavy traffic are sometimes four tracked, six tracked and even eight tracked. The solution reached in the construction of permanent country roads around Cleveland is instructive. It is similar to the solution followed in railway evolution. The right of way for the highway lies between two fences sixty feet, more or less, apart. Economy is obtained by building the permanent highway one-half as wide, leaving the balance of the dirt road for the present as before.

In railroad it is an axiom that the capacity of a single track of railway with sufficient switches and uniform speed of trains is practically unlimited. In Cuyahoga county, O., hundreds of miles of permanent country roads of narrow widths are being built, using a special type of brick which is produced cheaply in that locality for the surface, set upon cement foundations. Future generations may widen these country auto tracks if they so desire, but they will act more wisely if they invest the money in an equal number of miles of new narrow roads of permanent construction to act as feeders.

A twelve foot permanent road is passable summer and winter for the heaviest loads. The dirt road lies to one side of the new trackway just as before. The country needs thousands of miles of narrow roads of permanent construction, intersecting as feeders with the wider main lines and truck lines. Such feeders need not be wider than twelve feet. The advantages are plain. Not only are such roads passable summer, fall, winter and spring for the harvest loads, but they are also permanent.

And, above all, they are a state and municipal undertaking and not a subject for federal endowment.

GOOD ROADS VALUE.

Not to Be Counted Only in Dollars Saved For Hauling.

[H. A. La Rue, Missouri station.] Not all the value of good roads is to be counted in dollars saved the farmer who hauls his products to town or to the tourist who uses his automobile every day, but there is an added value in the satisfaction of meeting your neighbors in the country. This is one side of good roads value.

The argument for rock roads most often used is the direct saving to the farmer in hauling his products to market. This is hard to prove in some cases, because the cost of building the road may be too great and the amount of travel insufficient to justify such an expenditure. The argument that appeals more forcibly to farmers is the increased pleasure of visiting made possible by rock roads.

The farmer now has before him several months of bad weather. Much of the time it will be impossible to travel over dirt roads. With mud hub deep, as is often the case in Missouri, it is impossible to get a vehicle beyond the front gate.

With smooth hard roads a trip can be made as easily in winter as in summer. The cold is not so disagreeable when one goes at a good speed as when dragging at a snail's pace through mud or bumping over frozen ground, which threatens to throw one from the carriage if the horses go faster than a walk.

The farmer's automobile is almost useless on dirt roads in winter. Recent reports show the saving that might be made by the use of motorcars on the farm. Their use is dependent upon good roads.

Like to Travel Against Stream. The tendency to go against the stream is very strongly marked in a catfish, called arroyo, which forces its way up the torrential streams of the Andes, gripping with its mouth and using a toothed ventral plate as a lever. It can climb up many feet of smooth, water-worn rock.

AIR IS SENT THROUGH WATER

Attachment for Electric Fan Increases the Cooling Capacity of That Apparatus Many Times.

A clever and useful attachment for the electric fan, designed by a Los Angeles inventor, according to Science Monthly, consists of a tin wheel which can be hooked on any electric fan and which will increase its cooling capacity many times.

The spokes or propellers of this wheel are made of fine-mesh screen. The lower part of the wheel whirls in a tank which is filled with cold water. The electric fan causes the screen propellers to revolve and they dip into the little tank, throwing up a small amount of water on the upward turn. The air is sent through the water and is cooled, purified and cleaned. Perfume, a disinfectant, or a medicated liquid may be used instead of water.

Flopping to Earth. A Glenwood avenue man who raises chickens was entertaining a friend.

"You have a nice little place here." "So I think myself." "A nice garden." "Yes." "And some fine chickens." "Especially the chickens." "You like them best?" "Yes, indeed. I tell you it is fine to take a basket every morning and go out after eggs."

The Glenwood avenue man's little girl, who had been listening, took the wind out of her father's sails with the observation: "Yes, sir, and sometimes we get some too."—Oakland (Cal.) Tribune.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Jan. 8, 1877.—The weather took a severe cold this morning, the thermometer standing at thirteen degrees below zero, at seven o'clock. Several of our prominent politicians on the republican side of the house started for Madison today, to aid in the organization of the legislature. Mrs. S. A. Stillwell, of Harmony, wore 2,337 yards of carpet in two years. During three months of that time she did not weave, so that the product in one year and nine months is remarkable. The Beloit reform club had a meeting the other day and agreed to send representatives to this city, where a mass meeting will soon be held for the purpose of electing delegates to attend the state convention on the 18th.

Professor James H. Eaton, who held the chair of chemistry and mineralogy in Beloit college, died on Friday. He was known to a large number of our citizens. Excessive application and close confinement to the laboratory for nine years, was the cause of his sad death.

Many of our readers know Mr. John Stowe, the circus man, and will correct his death, which occurred at Vicksburg, in December. He was fifty-nine years old and was proprietor of Cook's Royal Circus. He left a widow and eight children, the oldest of which is Will H. Stowe, aged twenty-three, who is also well known in Janesville.

PETEY DINK—HE COUNTED TEN WHEN THE LAD WENT DOWN.

SPORTS

HENDERSON MEETS HARD MAN TO BEAT TOMORROW EVENING

George Adams of Chicago Has Three Knockouts to His Credit From Four Fights in Two Months.

Around the meeting of Charley Henderson and George Adams tomorrow night at the second show of the Southern Wisconsin Athletic association, Janesville fight fans are making many speculations. The Kenosha lad won a host of followers here at the opening exhibition, when he cleverly outpointed Knockout Krause in ten fast and furious rounds, and as a result of this many are picking him a winner over Adams.

But quite a number of the bugs here know Adams and are pointing to his record of the past two months to bear out their prediction that he will be able to win from Henderson. In this period the Chicago boy has mixed in four battles. In three of them he has won by straight knockouts, and in the fourth was unanimously given the decision. He has a wide swing punch that lands with force. His feint is regarded as just as clever as Henderson's and in boxing ability he is claimed to be on par with the lake shore lad.

A lot of interest is being manifested in the meeting of Kid Meyers of this city and Young O'Connor of Rockford. Lately, around the gym where Meyers has been taking his workouts, he is unable to secure anyone to spar with him. He is a scrappy and tough lad and should at least hold his own with the Rockford boy, who has a reputation in northern Illinois.

Jack Grace of Oakland, Cal., who meets Billy Marx of Cleveland in a new fighter in these parts. In Wisconsin he has won two newspaper decisions, this being the number of mills he has appeared in.

Battling Swann of this city and Bud Corbett of Beloit will open the show in a four round go.

Dr. R. W. Edden of this city has been appointed by the Wisconsin Boxing Commission as the examining physician of the local A. A. The new rule to go before the physician and will be weighed in at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Tom Abbott's.

HARNESS RULES MADE UNIFORM

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Columbus, O., Jan. 8.—All trotting race tracks in the country will work under uniform rules this season as a result of the work of the joint committee of the National and American Trotting associations, which has finished its work here.

Weightmaking by drivers under 150 pounds is eliminated, time allowances for non-winning races are limited to two seconds, a horse is given one second allowance for each year he doesn't race, and in three-five heat races there shall be no winner until one horse has won three heats.

Horses outside the money are barred after four heats.

BADGERS, MAROONS AND ILLINI OPEN WITH VICTORIES

Vic Hemmeling of this city looms up as a contender to break Lewis' record at basketballing, tying the two years' conference leader on Saturday night. Vic Badgers led 13 to 6. The lineup:

REB EDLER'S FIVE BEATS PSEUDO CARDS

FORMER LEADER OF LAKOTAS BRINGS AGGREGATION WHICH DALTON AND FOUR NEW MEN FAIL TO STOP.

DEFEAT A BITTER PILL

Monstrous Crowd Unruly and "Rides" Former Cardinal—Edler, O. K., But on Wrong Team They Say.

NEXT!
Fogarty's Rockford team.

With Captain Dalton the only remaining remnant of the Lakota club Cardinals, the middle west two time champs' laurels were trailed in the dust Saturday night, 26 to 16, by Rebel Edler's University of Wisconsin Reserves in the most spectacular, as well as the roughest game here this season. The only excuse for the Lakotas is: "You can't teach an old horse new tricks." Although they played the hardest kind of a game, the new men failed to deliver.

Four new players were behind Dalton. Floden, Rockford high school basketball coach, and a University of Wisconsin star of two seasons also starred for Janesville, and through his stellar playing and clean game, won a warm place in the hearts of the crowd, which at times failed miserably to be as clean in their sportsmanship as was the Rockford man. Elliott of Appleton, played hard and consistent ball, and even his efforts must be appreciated. Elliott was held scoreless by Mike Knapp, but this did not stop some clever floorwork on the part of the Bushey player.

Everson another Bushey man, exerted himself at guard. Rein, the third Appleton player, was fair. These two men seemed bewildered when in possession of the ball and failed to play the flashy passing game the Busheys showed here three weeks ago.

Dalton played his usual game, but at times his usual cleverness stood out quite a bit too prominent. Aside from doing something he never did in his life before—lead his mates in field scoring—he also blackened the fouls committed column with a sextette of smudges.

Close to seven hundred spectators saw the battle, one with a brilliant start but a poor finish, from the local fans' viewpoint. At the end of half time the Reserves had but a one point lead, 13 to 12. Their aggressiveness ended in the first half when they had scored nine points before the Lakotas went Everson down the floor for their first basket. From that moment on the Cards showed a new life and gradually overcame the big lead and stopped only a point in the rear as the whistle blew.

The second half was different. Against six field baskets and a successful free throw out of six attempts the Cards got but two baskets.

The showing of the men in Cardinal suits made during the opening period was a surprise to even their most ardent backers. When Edler led his rangy and beefy aggregation on the floor, prediction was rife that the Cards were in for an awful lacing. The speculation seemed to be borne out after five minutes of play when the Reserves had accumulated seven points to a blank on the score board for Cardow's crew. It was then that the team, urged on by the pleas of the crowd and a bit of scrapping temperament instilled in them as the result of several encounters on the floor, started a brilliant flash of playing.

Dalton and Edler were continually mixing things. The crowd rode the strong boy as predicted and continually brought the fact that he was all right but that was on the wrong team to his attention. The machine gun fire of slams he was subjected to wormed under his hide and at times his facial features assumed that like a bull pup. And it all delighted the crowd.

The work of Mitchell and Knapp predominated in the playing. The latter and Grey started with their consistent and spectacular guarding. Mayes, a long and heavy red-headed lad at center was a whirlwind and was continually after Floden and held him to two baskets. Edler also scored twice from the field. As a foul thrower he was very poor, getting but one from seven attempts.

It was while Edler was throwing that the outbursts of the crowd—catcalls, hisses and a general array of poor sportsmanship—predominated. If such instances continue to occur, Janesville as a basketball center will have a fine reputation—nil. Uncontrollable occurrences like those of Saturday night are regrettable and to the sport who appreciate cleanliness, not only from the players, and even they must be censured, but from the crowd.

Captain Dalton committed a foul on Edler. The latter stepped into position to throw and for two minutes the game was stopped. The crowd listened and Dalton long enough to hear "Shut up," and then started again. Because the crowd was uncontrollable, Referee George Sennett, acting under the rules, called another foul on Captain Dalton. Luckily, however, Edler missed both shots.

Floden played in the hardest luck of any player on the floor. Time and time again he would take the ball the entire distance, but there was never anyone to back him up. At the opening whistle he got the jump and was down the floor like a shot, but missed. Within a minute another attempt, but this too rolled around the ring and fell off. From that time on Mayes, the opposing center, clung to him like a leech.

Dalton's three baskets came as a surprise to Cardinal backers and throughout the second half there were

Fifty-eight per clock-tick

Every time the clock ticks, fifty-eight Fatimas are lighted somewhere in the United States. No other high-grade cigarette has so many unchanging, unswerving friends.

This shows that men do appreciate cigarette-comfort.

For, Fatimas are comfortable. Not only comfortable while you smoke, but more than that, comfortable after you smoke—even though you may smoke the whole day through.

The Fatima Turkish blend is so carefully balanced that it has none of the after-effects of heavier, less skilfully blended tobaccos. That's why Fatimas are comfortable (hence, sensible)—as your first package will prove.

OLD TIME RIVALS PICK RIVAL BOXERS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York, Jan. 8.—Within a short time Ruby Robert Fitzsimmons, former middleweight and heavyweight champion, and James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion, are expected to reach far back into history, dig up the old moss-covered axes and begin their feud right where it left off.

The reason for the mediaeval inclination is found in an approaching contest between Billy Weeks and Roddy McDonald, middleweights from Canada. Each of them claims the Canadian middleweight championship and each has made something of a record. Corbett claims the equal of Billy Weeks of Vancouver, British Columbia does not live, while Flid has selected McDonald to carry the Fitzsimmons standard in coming ring battles.

Fitz isn't giving to raving over youngsters but after claiming McDonald in action the one-time champion made the assertion that he expected the youngster to capture the middleweight championship.

Corbett already has made his statements regarding Weeks. Now he wants to see the two youngsters get together and decide who is the best picker.

McDonald is a native Canadian. Weeks was born in Boston and has spent most of his time in Western Canada. McDonald lived near Cape Breton in Nova Scotia. Each weighs about 155 pounds in good condition and each stands about 5 feet eight inches high.

McDonald already has appeared in New York here, while Weeks started from Canada to work himself to this settlement.

Promoters already are angling for a match between the two, with promise of success.

Our Question Box. Why haven't Roddy McDonald and Billy Weeks been accused of being slackers?

Just because Tex Rickard went to sea to get his fish is no reason for people to call Les Baro one of the breed of swimmers that are round and bony.

Jimmy Johnston now is managing a concrete crater. For sake of publicity Johnston admits the crusher is Tow Cowler.

FOGARTY'S WIN, 19-17; HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

West Side Browns Victim in Rough Game at Rockford—Look for Good Game This Week.

In a rough battle, featured by spectacular playing, Fogarty's Rockford team defeated the Chicago West Side Browns at the Forest City, Saturday night. The score was 19 to 17. Reports reaching here today relative to the game are that the visitors were continually the under dog, although having by far the best team on the floor.

The five led by Fogarty, a little idol Janesville adores just like it did Edler Saturday night, will meet the Cardinals this week. "Sup" Murphy, formerly of this city, and Eddie Gharilly of Beloit, are members of the team. There is also an Italian and a Frenchman in Fogarty's lineup and as a result local fans look forward to Saturday night as an evening of sport.

While the game last week was fast and full of fight, the one coming will be about as friendly a contest as the attempt of the Germans to take Verdun. The Cardinals will look more like their old selves in this game.
